Thomas Sign had the unique opportunity to work with LEGOLAND Florida. This large theme park signage presented unique challenges due to the one-of-a-kind signs, ornate faces, and multi-color requirements. Our talented design team, working closely with park architects, designed signs that thrill kids and adults alike. Our skilled fabricators and painters brought the park's concepts to life and our in-house installation team managed every detail to ensure every sign was installed as planned.

NEWSWIRE

TAMPA BAY NEWSWIRE — Thomas Sign and Awning has done it again. The company recently designed, manufactured and installed another tower sign that is sure to become a Pinellas County landmark.

The inspiration for the new tower comes from the city's 1924 "Come to Clearwater" pillars that guided visitors to the ferry. The photo was provided to Thomas Sign and the nearly 50-foot tall tower was designed. Today's tower is fully lit by LED illumination and an RGB lighting system. The tower's synthetic stucco finish is topped by a large orb that will change from white to yellow as dusk falls, representing the Florida sun. The base of the tower acknowledges the city's centennial logo and the year the city was founded, "1915" on two sides.

The nearly 50-foot tower welcoming passersby to Clearwater is located at the western end of the Courtney Campbell Causeway, Clearwater, Florida.
